Failed coup attempt strengthens Erdoğan's totalitarian rule

Constitutional changes & Human Rights Violations in Turkey

Kumru Baser, Freelance journalist

In Turkey, the coup attempt of 15th of July 2016 presented a 'god-sent opportunity' for Islamist President Erdoğan's AKP to further speed up his project of regime change. In this presentation, journalist Kumru Baser will explain the dramatic constitutional changes towards an absolute one-man rule, human rights violations of epic proportions, and the level of oppression that rendered the opposition totally ineffective, all happened within just one-and-a-half year under the Emergency Rule (OHAL).

ALL WELCOME

Kumru Baser, a distinguished journalist living in London, currently working as a freelance journalist, having worked as a journalist for the BBC Turkish service for decades.
